Bio

Infectiously fun and outrageously different, The Coconut Kids are an eclectic group that defy genres and styles. They've been wooing audiences across Australia and beyond with their own blend of French-influenced world folk using ukulele, brass, bass, keys, violin, mandolin and powerful vocals. The kids' unique sound will have you dancing one minute and in tears the next.

They've cemented ourselves as festival favourites playing across Australia and sharing the stage with festival greats such as The Cat Empire & Michael Franti, playing festivals across Australia and showcasing at the globally renowned music festival South By South West in Austin, Texas earlier this year.

Downright catchy and heartfelt, and having a laugh along the way, they are riding a wave of buzz this year as they gear up for our 2018 European tour.

They released their debut EP in June 2016, followed by their acclaimed single "Un De Plus" in September 2017. Their music has been played on national radio, as well as receiving airplay in Europe, America, Canada & The Philippines with their video clip featuring on MTV in both Europe & Australia.

Their latest single "Sugar" has recently hit the airwaves with it's Americana grooves.
